Report on One-Day Workshop on “Soft Skills and Personality Development”

Organised for SE and TE Mechanical Engineering Students of Mechanical Engineering Department

Date : 8th October 2025

Venue : Seminar Hall

Resource Person : Dr. Mrs. Pratibha More, Training and Placement Officer, Dattakala Shikshan Sanstha

A one-day workshop on “Soft Skills and Personality Development” for the SE and TE Mechanical Engineering students on 8th October 2025 in the Seminar Hall. The session was conducted by Dr. Mrs. Pratibha More, an experienced Training and Placement Officer from Dattakala Shikshan Sanstha, known for her expertise in professional development and student training.

The program commenced with a formal welcome address, highlighting the importance of soft skills in enhancing employability and shaping a professional attitude. Dr. More conducted an interactive and engaging session focusing on essential soft skill components such as communication skills, teamwork, leadership qualities, time management, emotional intelligence, and professional etiquette.

Through real-life examples, group activities, and short exercises, students were encouraged to reflect on their strengths and areas for improvement. Dr. More emphasized the role of personality development in career growth and guided students on building confidence, developing a positive mindset, and improving interpersonal skills.

Students actively participated in the activities and discussions, making the workshop lively and productive. The session proved highly beneficial in preparing students for campus placements, interviews, and professional work environments.

The workshop concluded with a vote of thanks presented by the department staff, expressing gratitude to Dr. More for her valuable insights and to the faculty and students for making the event successful.

Overall, the one-day workshop was an enriching experience that significantly contributed to the holistic development of SE and TE Mechanical Engineering students.
