Purpose

1. Create, organize, promote and enrich the social, cultural, recreational, educational programs, services and environment for students of the College.
2. Develop a sense of community among students and other groups within the College.
3. Promote general welfare of students and the furtherance of post-secondary education consistent with the purpose of the College.
4. Promote and represent students' issues and interest in relation to the College.

Benefits

1. The obvious benefit of joining a student society is the impact it will have on your social life. You will meet people who share an interest with you, and you will widen your social network beyond your course and the people you live with.
2. However, there are also real gains in terms of your employability - the skills, qualities and knowledge you offer to prospective employers, which suggest that you will successfully adapt to life as a graduate in the workplace.
3. There are three main categories of student society. Best known are the sports societies, which often involve inter-university competitions. Then there are subject-based societies, which enable you to extend your academic knowledge more informally, through guest speakers, field trips and extra-curricular projects.
4. Finally, there are the societies which don't fit either category (like musical instruments), and might involve setting up a business or working in the local community.
5. While each offers its own benefits, all student societies give you a great chance to enhance your employability, and it's never too late to join. The obvious benefit of joining a student society is the impact it will have on your social life. You will meet people who share an interest with you, and you will widen your social network beyond your course and the people you live with.
